The JavaZone Conference

JavaZone is a conference organised by and for a great community of developers. The conference has been held in the heart of Oslo for 14 consecutive years, and JavaZone 2016 will be the 15th time we arrange the conference.

Last year, we had around 2,800 attendees at the conference, including speakers, volunteers, students and around 100 representatives from our partners. We would not be able to arrange a conference of this size and quality without the involvement and support of every one of our partners. Each year, more than 40 partners contribute to make JavaZone a great success.

The Expo Area

The Expo Area is placed in the centre of the conference venue making this the perfect arena to meet all the participants. The talks are held in rooms located on all sides of the Expo Area, with shorter breaks after each session. Having a break for 20 minutes between sessions gives a unique flow in the Expo Area. Participants move about and visit partner stands, and as we continuously serve food they get something to eat before the next session. We also hold the conference after-party in the Expo area, giving the participants extra time to interact with you and your representatives.

What you get from this Expo setup

The result of this Expo setup is that partners with stands in the expo area are given the opportunity to meet quite a lot of visitors throughout the conference. At the same time, this makes the Expo Area a perfect place to hang out for the conference guests. Every year, our partners help us raise the bar making our Expo Area even better.
